

A Day to Treasure: Sunday, September 17, 2006

Generous sponsors team up to support a valuable cause while enjoying a fun day on the field.

About Otsar

Otsar, a 26-year-old organization founded by parents dedicated to facilitating developmentally disabled individuals becoming contributing members of the community, provides families with the tools to fully engage special-needs children and serves as a support network for those families.

Services include an early childhood center with music, dance, play, and speech therapy well as counseling for children with learning disabilities and more severe developmental delays, respite care, Sunday and school holiday sessions, an adult services center; a young adult program encouraging peer association; and home- and community-based programs encouraging inclusion in day-to-day life.

Join Goose Gossage, Al Leiter and an All-Star slate of former major league athletes as they team up with Otsar Family Services to present the Third Annual Celebrity Grand Slam at KeySpan Park — home of the Brooklyn Cyclones. Whether you're a baseball fan, a business reaching out to targeted community segments, or simply someone who wants to help the very special children of Otsar, this event presents a valuable opportunity for everyone to step up to the plate.

Unlike previous years, this event will be held exclusively for sponsors and will not be open to the general public. To learn more about which of our sponsorship opportunities will be a home run for you, please review the enclosed information, call: 718-946-7301, ext. 300;
