Our 10th day of camp was super with a trip to the New York Hall of Science! The museum is filled with so many hands-on exhibits and we were sure to see as many of them as we could! It was so much fun to see science come alive in such a fun and creative way!

Of course, we visited the bubble exhibit which many of us voted as being the best part of the museum. What a great time we all had making huge bubbles and trying not to let them pop!

The fun never pops in camp!
We had a blast today learning and seeing science up close and personal.
