OTSAR'S SUNDAY PROGRAM

We had a great day at Otsar's President's Day program!

We had an incredible time working on our canvas paintings, where we were able to experiment with different colors and styles of our choice. Adding our names to the canvas was the perfect finishing touch to our masterpieces, which we can't wait to bring home on Sunday.

The aroma of our freshly baked banana muffins filled the room, and we savored every bite of our delicious treats. We even had extra so we could share with our families.

The snowstorm in a jar experiment was a hit. We used oil, white paint, baby oil, and alka seltzer tablets to create a mesmerizing effect inside a jar. We were fascinated to watch the wild snowstorm happening right before our eyes! (See next page if you want to give this a try at home.)

We also had the chance to learn about Purim in a fun and interactive way by watching videos.

We're excited to see everyone again this coming Sunday 😊

Materials for Snowstorm in a Jar:

- Baby oil (you can use vegetable oil as well but the liquid will be yellow)
- White paint
- Alka-Seltzer tablets
- Clear glass jar
- Glitter (optional)

Step-by-Step Instructions:

1. Fill up  $\frac{1}{4}$  of the jar with water.
2. Add about a teaspoon of white paint in the water and stir to mix. The mixture should look like milk. If necessary add more paint.
3. Fill up the rest of the jar with baby oil. Let the water and paint mixture settle to the bottom.
4. Add glitter in the mixture if desired (not necessary but it makes the snowstorm prettier).
5. Add a few drops of blue food coloring if desired (to simulate the color of the sky).
6. Let the water/paint mixture settle on the bottom.
7. Break up an Alka-Seltzer tablet and drop the broken up pieces one at a time into the jar.
8. Watch the magic happen!
